Does not reveal	אָין אָסְתֵּר מַגֶּדֶת מוֹלַדְתָּהּ וְאֶת-עַמָּה (2:20)	וְאֶת-דְּבֵר הַמְּלוּכָה לֹא-הָגִּיד לו "the matter of the kingship he did not tell him" (1 Samuel 10:16)
Agag/Amalek	Mordecai and Esther succeed by defeating Haman "the Agagite."	Saul loses his kingship for failing to destroy Agag, king of the Amalekites (1 Samuel 15).
Remaining silent?	Mordecai charges Esther that she "must not remain silent (תחרישי) (4:14).	One of Saul's early mistakes was his failure to act decisively when faced with challenges to his authority at the beginning of his reign. Instead, the text says, "he remained silent (מחריש)."
The "father's house"	Mordecai tells Esther that if she does remain silent, "you and your father's house" (את ובית אביך) will perish (פּי אָם הַוְּבִשׁ תַּחֲרִישִׁי בָּעֵת הַוֹּאתאַתְּ וּבֵית-אָבִיךְּ הַחֲרֵשׁ תַּחֲרִישִׁי בָּעֵת הַוֹּאתאַתְּ וּבֵית-אָבִיךְּ תַּאבִדוּ	Samuel told Saul: "Who does the entire Israel desire? You – and your father's house!" (וּלְמִי כָּל-חֶמְדַּת יִשְׂרָאֵל הֲלוֹא לְךּ וּלְכֹל בֵּית אָבִיךּ, 1 Samuel 9:20).
The banquets	In Esther, the queen hosts two banquets, on successive days; the first passes uneventfully, while at the second, the king rises angrily and leaves, and Haman observes that פִּי רָאָה כִּי-כָלְתָה אֵלָיו הָרָעָה 'the king definitely intends evil against him" (Esther 7:7).	In 1 Samuel 20, Saul hosts a feast on one day, and then another feast the next day (v. 27). Whereas the first one passes uneventfully, at the second the host, Saul, becomes enraged at one guest, Jonathan, for betraying him and protecting David. Jonathan concludes that בָּלְתָה הָּרָעָה (v. 7) " (Saul) definitely intends evil" (v. 7) and rises angrily from the feast (v. 34: מֵצְמוֹ הַנִּקָם יְהוֹנָתָן מֵעִם הַשֵּׁלְחָן בָּחְרִי-אָן).
ֶרְנַת	In concluding his plea for action, Mordecai tells Esther that what she must bring is רוח והצלה. The concept of רוח is not one with positive resonances for Saul.	"Relief" (בְּוַח) eluded Saul when he was king, and he was able to achieve it only by relying on the upstart David: "David would take the lyre and play by hand, and bring relief (בְּוַח) to Saul so that he had it good, and the evil spirit would depart from him.
Spoils of war	Finally, in the battles at the end the Jews "do not touch the spoils" (9:15). This is despite the fact that in 8:11, they were explicitly given permission to plunder their enemies.	In 1 Samuel 15, the Israelites, in direct violation of religious orders, brought back spoils of war from Amalek.
